

A dowager is going to throw out the garbage. However, she is not aware of being followed by a robber. As she puts the plastic garbage bag into the trash can, the robber comes to her and puts a sharp knife against her neck. He tries to extort a large sum of money from the her.

Unfortunately, the dowager has no money in hand then, so the robber followed her home to get money. In the large living room, she crouches down to get cash in the case, and the robber awaits a big fortune from her. All of a sudden, the dowager does not draw a bag of money, but a quickly slashing saw toward the robber.

At last, the dowager wipes away the dead robber's blood on her hand with a napkin, putting the body in the plastic garbage bag. Again, the dowager is going to throw out the garbage.
