

Launch of New Book Store

Local owners open book store for local authors and poets

The Jasmine Book Store opened on Thursday 15th May 2013 to a wide audience and fully stocked with books from local authors, all with a launch party including some of the city's most respected and up and coming authors.

The Jasmine Book store is owned by Steve Lee and Charlie Ho, they have both run stores in the past and had a great wealth of experience within the publishing world.

Specifically selling books that are independently published by smaller publishing houses and some works which have been self-published by the authors alone, they also sell work from up and coming poets based throughout the country too.

You can find more from their website www.jasminebookstore.com.tw