

The Accidental Tourist

Usually, when we met a person that always does things in a certain way, we will think of him or her as a person in good order and with good reasoning. That's because you haven't met Macon yet.

Macon Leary like regular routines and a sense of order in the world around him. He would rather be at home, in his own house, even a house without his son Ethan, who was dead, and his wife Sarah, who had left him.

Everyone's life is just like a journey. Anything could happen on this big trip. You can choose to be a person with no feelings, or you can make your journey more interesting. I thought Macon was the person who didn't want his life changeable.

But things changed, things happened ... Macon went to stay with his unmarried sister Rose and his two divorced brothers, Charles and Porter. His dog trainer from the Meow-Bow Animal Hospital had to be sent for. Then Macon's wife Sarah wanted a divorce, and Macon argued with Muriel about training Edward.

It was all by accident, no one could predict what would happen. Just think about it while you are reading this book, if Edward wasn't Ethan's dog, if Macon didn't let Edward stay, if Edward didn't bite an attendant, then Macon wouldn't meet Muriel and find out what he really wanted. Life is just like this, it can all be changed if you choose another path.

The Accidental Tourist

Usually, when we met a person that always does things in a certain way, we will think of him or her as a person in good order and with good reasoning. That's because you haven't met Macon yet.

Macon Leary liked regular routines and a sense of order in the world around him. He would rather be at home, in his own house even a house without his son Ethan, who was dead, and his wife Sarah, who had left him.

※ 507 徐以安

Everyone's life is just like a journey. Anything could happen on this big trip. You can choose to be a person with no feeling, or you can make your journey more interesting. I thought Macon was the person who didn't want his life changeable.

But things changed, things happened...Macon went to stay with his unmarried sister Rose and his two divorced brothers Charles and Porter. His dog Edward started behaving badly, biting people and chasing them up trees. Muriel the dog trainer from the Meow-Bow Animal Hospital had to be sent for. Then Macon's wife Sarah wanted a divorce, and Macon argued with Muriel about training Edward.

It was all by accident, no one could predict what would happen. Just think about it while you are reading this book, if Edward wasn't Ethan's dog, if Macon didn't let Edward stay, if Edward didn't bite an attendant, then Macon wouldn't meet Muriel and find out what he really wanted. Life is just like this, it can all be changed if you choose another path.